With Exchange Pro, international travelers can withdraw local currency from a bank's ATM using by a foreign credit card. The ATM will automatically identify the card and offer Dynamic Currency Conversion to that customer. At the time of their withdrawal, the exact amount debited from the bank account will be shown in their home currency.

→ By including this feature, ATM companies will greatly expand their market and enhance their revenue.

"DCC is probably the most substantial value-add product to come along for ATM operators yet. These transactions represent a significant new revenue stream added to existing ATM terminals at little to no cost at all,"
said ASAI's COO Kent Cain.
